Dive Deeper - Activity 8

These stages of practice are for self-assessment and self-development. Use them for yourself, to track and develop your personal journey. The benefits of these activity are directly proportional to your interest and commitment to yourself.

You can begin by setting personal goals. Try to attain those goals by the time you complete the program, and then to develop beyond. There are weekly activities, including articles, video links and questions, to allow you to delve deeper and gather the best experience.

The activities are of four types:

Something to practice

Something to do

Something to read

Something to ponder
